ATLANTA, Georgia — 3PD, one of North America's largest providers of last-mile delivery services, has received GE's 2007 Quality Hero and QOS (Quality-of-Service) awards. It also has been named GE's Agent of the Year in the Northeast and Southwest.

The Quality Hero award honors the company that helps GE open a new division with the best quality-of-service. The QOS award goes to the GE agent that has the highest quality-of-service score in a region for a calendar year. And the Agent of the Year awards go to the company with the best overall operational performance.

"As always, we're always delighted to have a client honor our services. These awards are particularly meaningful because they honor so many of our different locations — Albany, New Orleans, Phoenix, Hartford and Boston — in so many different parts of the country," said 3PD CEO Karl Meyer. "That's important to us because it demonstrates that we don't just have national reach; we have national excellence."

3PD has been serving GE since 2001. It currently makes more than 300,000 appliance deliveries for GE each year.
